The Democratic victory in Ohio might knock somebody's Presidential aspirations into a cocked hat.

The Democratic majority in Ohio was so big the Republican machine couldn't count them out.

The Republicans showed last Tuesday that they carried Nebraska just as easily as if Col. Bryan been at home working against them.

Senator Smoot's term will expire before the investigation committee will ascertain that he was no "fitten puss'n" to be a Senator of the United States of America.

The Brooklyn Citizen paid James W. Osborne the compliment of saying that he "should have been elected district attorney of New York because he was the best man running for the position. This is true, apart from all partisan considerations."

The Philadelphia Press says: "President Roosevelt wants to cut away red tape and introduce business methods in the Department." Best way to do it is to help us Democrats put out the Republican crowd that is responsible for red tape and slack-twisted methods.

A New York man, or that is an individual with a man's name, is suing an actress for breach of promise of marriage, alleging that $10,000 out of her wallet will in a measure compensate him for the crushed feeling of one's heart when a girl goes back on him. This shows that some men consider a girl's promise worth something.

The D. A. Tompkins Company, of Charlotte, is manufacturing a cotton loom known as "Maid of the South." It was run at the Mocklenburg fair in Charlotte recently, and was greatly admired as it turned out fancy gingham. The loom is a signal success, and the Monroe Cotton Mills will soon put in 150 of them. Ahem! North Carolina manufacturing cotton mill machinery.

REMAINS SENT HOME.

Impressive Service Over Late Felix Hoyle Klutz Yesterday Evening.

The remains of the late Felix Hoyle Klutz, whose sad death was noted in these columns yesterday, were taken on the northbound A. C. L. train last night to the former home of the deceased at Albemarle, N. C., where the funeral will take place today. Two brothers of the young man, one of them, Dr. S. B. Klutz, of Albemarle, arrived during the day and they accompanied the remains home. They were deeply bereaved on account of the death of their brother and expressed themselves as very grateful to the fact that he had been so kind in the sad affair.

The casket remained at the Elks' Temple Wednesday night and yesterday, the "Jodge of sorrow" having convened and paid beautiful tribute to the deceased at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The service was attended by the lodge in a body and the officers took part in the ceremony. The eulogy was pronounced by the Rev. James Carmichael, D. D., rector of St. John's Episcopal parish, and chaplain of the lodge. The music was very sweet, an especial feature having been a solo by Miss Lee Horne, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought Comes Over Me, O'er and O'er." The accompaniment was by Mr. E. H. Munson. The floral tributes were numerous and very pretty, notable designs having been by the Wilmington Lodge of Elks and by Jefferson Lodge, Knights of Pythias. Mr. Klutz having been a member of the K. of P. lodge at Albemarle. When the services were over the lodge accompanied the remains to the station, the following members having acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. H. M. Crosswell, Julius P. Taylor, W. H. Hardin, James M. Hall, W. R. Kingsbury and Dr. Thos. B. Carroll.

EQUITABLE IN THIS STATE.

Meeting of Policy Holders Yesterday in Raleigh—Proxies.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 9.—At a meeting of 90 members of North Carolina policyholders of the Equitable Assurance Society here today it was decided to hold a general meeting in Charlotte November 22nd to organize a State association of policyholders for the purpose of keeping the policyholders informed of the doings of the society, to advise with the trustees and directors, especially D. A. Tompkins, director for North Carolina, and to act for the protection of the policyholders of the society. A committee consisting of D. A. Tompkins, Charlotte; R. M. Nelson, Lillington; J. R. Young, J. Y. Joyner, and S. L. Rogers, of Raleigh, was named to receive proxies and suggestions from any policyholders in the State who cannot attend the Charlotte meeting.

D. A. Tompkins, a trustee of the Equitable, in addressing the meeting, said he first thought of advocating government control or supervision but he is now convinced that it would not do in that it would tend to paternalism and socialism. It looked to him like the very best thing to do would be to have the policyholders send their proxies to Grover Cleveland Morgan, J. O'Brien, George Westinghouse, trustees, for their use under the present management.

JURY CANNOT AGREE

Decided Upon Verdict of Guilty in Scott Case But Differ on Recommendation

ADDITIONAL INSTRUCTIONS

Brilliant Defence of Prisoner By Attorney Wm. J. Bellamy and Strong Presentation For Government By Col. Skinner.

After having received the case at a quarter past six o'clock yesterday evening the jury empaneled to try the issues joined between the government and Henry Scott, the third negro seaman from the schooner Harry A. Bordwin charged with mutiny and murder on the high seas, is unable to reach a verdict and a mistrial is not improbable.

At 11:30 o'clock last night a Deputy Marshal was sent for Judge Purnell with the information that the jury desired additional instructions, but after receiving the same, which consisted merely of a repetition of portions of the original charge, word came back from the jury room, to which they had retired, that there was still no likelihood of an agreement and they desired to go to bed for the night. This they were permitted to do, going to connecting rooms at the Orton where they slept in charge of Special Bailiff H. M. Ford. Nothing further will be heard from them until court convenes at 9:30 o'clock this morning as usual.

The trial of Scott consumed another entire day in the Federal Court yesterday. Adams, the mulatto previously convicted, resumed the stand yesterday morning for cross-examination by Mr. Bellamy, for the defence. The cross examination, however, did not bring out anything new. Notwithstanding that he has been convicted and only awaits the sentence of death, Adams protested his innocence and said he would go to the gallows with the same statement he was making on his lips. The government rested with the completion of Adams' testimony and Scott, the defendant, was introduced in his own behalf.

Admitted to his story as told at the first trial except that he did not go so much into details. He showed signs of breaking down for the first time and looked rather haggard on the stand. His depression is reported as the result of a letter he received this week from his wife in Baltimore or Philadelphia. Adverting to the testimony of Capt. Stetson that he had confessed to the killing of the cook or steward, he was mistaken; that he probably misunderstood the name "Cookley" or "Cookley" for "Cook" he denied having confessed in the District Attorney's room that a black jack exhibited to him was his property but that he had admitted being in possession of one very much like that one shown.

Robert Sawyer, also previously convicted and awaiting sentence, was next introduced for the government. His story was practically the same as he told before but he was considerably rattled and disconcerted by a vigorous and most ingenious cross-examination by Mr. Bellamy. Inconsistencies and contradictory statements were brought out in several instances.

Capt. J. W. Taylor was recalled by the government to identify the "billy" or black jack found in Scott's bunk; Capt. Stetson to show that Scott had admitted the ownership of the black jack exhibited to him in the District Attorney's office. The testimony was completed at 1 o'clock and court took a recess for dinner until 2 P. M.

The entire afternoon was taken up with the argument of counsel to the jury and just here it may be said that no finer argument has been heard in the court room in years than that made by Col. Skinner and Mr. Bellamy, the one on one side and the other on the other. Mr. Bellamy opened in an address of 25 hours and three-quarters and Col. Skinner closed in a speech of an hour. It was a pretty and deserved compliment that the District Attorney paid to Mr. Bellamy in beginning his remarks. He referred to the defence as brilliant and able, going further and saying that if the prisoner at the bar were endowed with millions he could not have commanded better legal services than was his during the trial. Mr. Bellamy received what was quite an ovation when he rose to speak, and words for his eloquent flow of language and masterly presentation of facts having come not only from his friends but those among the seafaring men arrayed against his client.

Judge Purnell's charge to the jury was very clear, concise and left nothing to be said. He read from the original statute defining murder on the high seas and prescribing the penalty; also a later statute enacted by Congress in 1897, permitting juries, when the circumstances in their opinion permit, to return a verdict of guilty with the qualification, "without capital punishment," in which event the penalty would be life imprisonment at hard labor. He also read a constitution of the Act by the Supreme Court of the United States, showing how and in what cases this qualification of a verdict might apply. The jury was instructed, however, that the exercise of this qualification of the verdict was solely upon their own sound discretion and was a matter with which the court had nothing to do. They must first find that the defendant is guilty before adding the qualification to the verdict. In the absence of which the law prescribes that the punishment must be death.

Speaking to the case in hand Judge Purnell said to find a verdict of guilty, they must first be satisfied in their own minds that there was a conspiracy and that the defendant was a party to it; that the admitted killing of Cookley, the negro seaman, was not in self-defence or while the defendant had reasonable cause to be in fear of his life or great bodily harm; third, that the prisoner murdered the cook or one of the others with which he stands charged with killing. After asking if counsel desired to note any exceptions to the charge and receiving a prompt reply in the negative from both sides, the jury was instructed to retire and make up its verdict. Court was then adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

The jury, charge of a deputy marshal, took supper at the Orton at 8 o'clock, went for a brief walk and entered the jury room in the court building to make up the verdict. The call for additional instructions came about 11 o'clock and Judge Purnell, who had been in waiting at the Cape Fear Club in the event of an agreement, came over and the jury was brought in. In the absence of the District Attorney and the prisoner, the latter's presence having been waived by Mr. Bellamy, however, Judge Purnell said he could not give any new instructions but would go over again any portion of the original charge which any member desired enlightenment upon. Mr. W. T. Mercer held a whispered conference with Judge E. E. David and arose as spokesman for the jury saying that all agreed that the prisoner was guilty but they were divided upon the recommendation as to the punishment, "without capital punishment."

Judge Purnell re-read the statute and the ruling of the Supreme Court thereon, which explained fully that the exercise of the qualifying clause was entirely in what is termed the "sound discretion" of the jury and the jury alone. Juror Naberger then asked if he would be permitted to address an inquiry to the court and was granted leave. He wanted to know if the defendant were convicted and sentenced to death would the President have the power to pardon the prisoner. Judge Purnell explained that he would and that the pardoning power was vested absolutely in the President and he alone.

Mr. Mercer, in behalf of the jury, then asked His Honor to wait 15 minutes and he willingly consented, and only awaits the sentence of death. The jury then retired and the proceedings were soon being across the street and without waiting for the expiration of the 15 minutes the jurors expressed their desire "to turn in." Col. Dockery, the Deputy Marshal, quickly accommodated them and the twelve men were soon lying across the street and without waiting for the expiration of the 15 minutes the jurors expressed their desire "to turn in." Col. Dockery, the Deputy Marshal, quickly accommodated them and the twelve men were soon lying across the street and without waiting for the expiration of the 15 minutes the jurors expressed their desire "to turn in."

ELKS' MEMORIAL EXERCISES

Observance of Beautiful Custom by B. P. O. E. in Wilmington—Distinguished Orator from Baltimore.

According to the beautiful custom of the order all over the world, the Wilmington Lodge of Elks, as usual, will this year hold its annual memorial service in the Academy of Music on the afternoon of the first Sabbath in December. The committee appointed to make all arrangements for the observance is composed of Messrs. Ike W. Solomon, Eugene J. Taylor and James F. Woolvin and they have been exceedingly fortunate in the choice of Hon. Alfred J. Carr, of Baltimore, as the orator for the occasion. Mr. Carr is a leading attorney of Baltimore, and is one of the most enthusiastic members of Baltimore Lodge, No. 7. He was a few years ago Police Commissioner of the Monumental City and made a considerable record for himself while occupying that important position in the government of his city. He is a recognized authority on the subject of social work and will be heard with a great deal of interest by the Wilmington public at large.

The exercises will be accompanied by the usual impressive ritualistic services and a programme of excellent music by favorite local artists. The committee now at work on all the arrangements and a programme for the event will be announced at an early date.

INTEREST INCREASES

Masonic Bazaar's Second Night Even Greater Success Than The Opening Event

AFTERNOON FOR CHILDREN

Baby Show Prize Won by Little Miss Divine—All Departments of the Fair Open at 3 P. M. To-day—Dancing, Flower Display, Etc.

The second night of the elaborate Masonic Bazaar, now in progress in the admirably adapted apartments on the third floor of the Temple, on Front street, was even more brilliant than the opening. The attendance was very largely increased and the amusements provided left nothing to be desired. The various booths and refreshment stands, with the ever-popular country store, in charge of their respective managers, did a fine business during the night and the committee in charge, in spite of the great expense to which they have gone, have every reason to feel encouraged.

The feature yesterday was a special matinee for children in the afternoon. In charge of Miss Mamie Alderman, a decided favorite with the young folks, and the baby show in special charge of Mrs. Price. The number of entries was large and the competition lively. The honors of the show were carried off by little Miss Susie Mcpherson Divine, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison W. Divine. She received a prize a handsome set of gold pins. The show was a magnificent success, both from a financial and an artistic point of view.

Beginning at 10 o'clock this morning the country store will be open all day and everybody is invited to come and make purchases of some real bargains that are offered. At 3 o'clock all Departments of the big Bazaar will be thrown open and those who find it inconvenient to visit the show at night may do so in the afternoon.

Each night in the magnificent ball room of the Temple a feature of the Bazaar is the dancing. Hollowbush's Academy Orchestra is furnishing the music and the managers are seeing to it that all are given a good time. The dancing continues until 12 o'clock each night.

RETURN OF LEWIS MORRISON.

Original Mephisto in Brilliant Revival of "Faust."

Lewis Morrison himself appears as Mephisto at the Academy Monday night in a superb new scenic production of "Faust" with new choral, musical and scenic effects. The new apotheosis with its choral music and vocal solos is said to be a splendid dramatic climax to the play. Archer and Seavey have painted scenes representing cloud and sunrise effects which gradually disappear. They are worked in conjunction with shaded and colored lights until the culminating spectacle is reached where the most of angels surrounding the Archangel and Mephisto are revealed with a perspective of the heavenly gates in a ray of pure white light. There will be an invisible choir, singing music composed and adapted to the requirements of this scene which lasts eight minutes.

DRUGGISTS ARE NOTIFIED.

Collector of Internal Revenue on Sale of Drugs, Etc.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 9.—Collector of Internal Revenue E. C. Duncan has issued from his office here the following notice to druggists and merchants selling patent medicines, bitters, etc., in this State:

"The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has ruled that alcoholic compounds advertised and sold as medicines, bitters, tonics, cordials, etc., which are composed chiefly of spirits or mixtures thereof without the addition of drugs or medicinal ingredients in sufficient quantities to change materially the character of the alcoholic liquor, are subject to special tax; and on and after December 1, 1905, persons selling such compounds will be held liable to tax as Liquor Dealers. The ruling that if such compounds are composed of spirits in combination with drugs, herbs, roots, etc., and are held out as remedies for diseases stated in labels on the bottles they are to be regarded as medicines until shown to have been sold for use as medicines is now revoked; and persons selling compounds as medicines are held accountable for the actual character thereof rather than what is stated in labels and printed matter sent out by the manufacturers."

A special to the Register from Reidsville, N. C., says: Reidsville has been recently visited by government agents in an effort to gain some information of value to the officials in the proposed investigation of the tobacco trust. The agents attempted to ascertain if some of the Reidsville Manufacturing plants had been absorbed by the "trust."

Since last Monday crowds of shoppers have been attending the ten day special sale at the C. W. Polvogt Co. To-day, Friday, they will give double trading stamps on all cash sales. Read their advertisement in this issue and note the special half hour sales.

WILLIAMS-MACMILLAN.

Prominent Wilmington Young People Plighted Their Troth Yesterday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Williams was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when they gave their daughter, Miss Janie, in marriage to Mr. Henry J. Macmillan. The halls and parlors were tastefully decorated with bamboo vines and bright colored autumn leaves, with here and there bunches of beautiful chrysanthemums, the charm of the decorations lying in the simplicity.

Promptly at the appointed hour the bride, crowned in a becoming travelling suit of blue, entered the parlor on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom, attended by his brother, Master Sidney Macmillan. Miss Sadie Williams, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the only attendant. Surrounded by intimate friends and relatives, and before a pretty altar illuminated by the soft, mellow light of candles, the Rev. Richard W. Hogue, rector of St. James' Episcopal church which made the young couple man and wife.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Macmillan left amid a shower of rice, on their trip to the land of sunshine and flowers. May the perfect day of their marriage and their journey to the land of orange blossoms be an auspicious beginning to their life, which opens to them a vista of happy days, is the wish of very many friends in this city and elsewhere.

AN APPEAL TO VETERANS.

To Restore Confederate Burying Ground on Johnson's Island.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 25th.
Comrades—During the war between the States many brave Confederate soldiers who had been captured in battle, were imprisoned on Johnson's Island, in Lake Erie, near Sandusky, Ohio. In that band of poorly clad, halfstarved, war-worn soldiers, were men from every Southern State and many from North Carolina. The severe climate, insufficient food and lack of attention and medical care, killed many of them. These lie buried on the island far from home and friends. A few months ago, to save this spot from being sold and the remains of our comrades from being dug up and desecrated, the Robert Patton Chapter, U. D. C., of Cincinnati, contracted to buy the plot of land in which they are buried. These noble ladies, who have taken up their abode on the island, have paid a part of the purchase money, some $600.00, but need some $2,500.00 to complete the purchase and put the little cemetery in shape. They have called on us for assistance. It is our sacred duty to help them.

All camps in this State are requested to contribute to the fund now being raised, and commanders are requested to bring this matter before them. The Daughters of the Confederacy are also earnestly requested to help us, contributing money from any one will be gladly received.

All contributions should be sent to General James I. Metts, Wilmington, N. C.

Looking Over Lands.
The party of Illinois farmers who arrived on the "Homeseekers" Excursion," of the Atlantic Coast Line late Wednesday night, spent yesterday morning looking over the model truck farm of Mr. D. N. Chadwick, in East Wilmington, and yesterday afternoon went to Castle Haynes and went over some of the valuable property of the Carolina Trucking Development Company in that section. They expressed themselves as much pleased with the climate and surroundings here but whether they will be interested sufficiently to locate here is a hope deferred until after they have completed their investigations and returned home.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

Friday Morning, Nov. 10.

BAD DAY FOR MACHINE POLITICS.

Tuesday was a bad day for political machines. In New York Tammany lost control of the board of aldermen and almost everything else but the mayor. Even Mayor McClellan may not get his seat, if William Randolph Hearst makes good in his contest on the ground that 30,000 fraudulent votes were cast, thus cheating him out of the mayoralty.

In Philadelphia the reformers whipped out the corrupt Republican machine which had run riot for years, and in Cincinnati Boss Cox, the Republican mogul, was driven from power by the Democrats. Under Boss Cox, Cincinnati was in about as bad a condition politically as Philadelphia. He was one of the most odious and potent of all the municipal bosses in the United States, and next to cleaning out the gang in Philadelphia his deposition is the best thing in the political upheaval on the 7th instant. But just think of Ohio's going Democratic when just a year ago that State gave Roosevelt a plurality of 255,421.

The Washington Post in discussing the upheaval all around says: "Never in the history of the country has civic virtue asserted itself with greater force than in the elections of yesterday. Never has bossism in political machinery received so many and so severe blows. Party lines disappeared, and the masses of the voters ranged themselves as reformers and not as partisans."

Well, if the people show any further signs of returning sanity a good old-fashioned Democrat may yet be landed in the White House.

Surely there were surprises in last Tuesday's elections, but the result in New York was one of the greatest surprises. Who would have believed that Hearst would have come very nearly putting Tammany out of business? He may not do yet, if his contest succeeds. The New York Times, Ind., was afraid of Hearst and supported McClellan as the only hope of beating him. The Times was correct when it argued that a vote for Irvins would make it possible for Hearst's election. Next day after the election the Times, rejoicing over Hearst's defeat, explained his big vote, as follows:

"The Republicans of Manhattan and the Bronx, obedient to conscience, guided by principle, and, we are persuaded, heeding in some measure the appeals of the Times, have defeated Mr. Hearst. Their votes have spared the city the humiliation, the trials, and the dangers of a four years' management of its affairs by a peculiarly reckless, unschooled, and unsteady group of experimenters and adventurers. To this saying body of Republican voters the country also is under obligation, for it is certain that the election of Mr. Hearst to be mayor of New York, would have sent a shiver of apprehension over the entire Union."

"The 200,000 votes cast for Mr. Hearst represent not so much a political aspiration as a social exasperation. It was the result of a state of mind. It was the expression of a very widespread desire to rebuke greed, oppression, and breach of trust. The insurance inquiry now going on in this city has been fruitful in exposures of wrongful and fraudulent practices that have stirred the public anger. Undoubtedly this factor counted for much in piling up the Hearst vote. But for some years there has been a continuous holding up to the country's view of examples of depraved conduct carried on by corporations, financial institutions, groups of capitalists, and individuals that have prepared the way for this outburst of passionate resentment at the culpable behavior of some of the country's most conspicuous captains of industry and finance. The Hearst vote is a solemn warning that these things must not go on."

The Philadelphia Press, (Rep.), which helped to whip out the gang in that city, says of the result in New York:

"Tammany faces the most serious double defeat of the generation in New York city, whatever may be the final vote. W. R. Hearst, in the contest for mayor, has split the Tammany vote in two. If Mayor McClellan is chosen his narrow plurality is only due to Republican votes, in panic over the possibility of Hearst's election. Had Tammany had faced a fusion candidacy, based on the honest treatment of public service corporations, it would have been beaten. In New York, as in Philadelphia, a boss and a mere machine can no longer rule a great city."

Lots of folks are prepared to believe that Hearst really carried

New York, and he may yet win out, because Evans, Jerome and Republicans generally are taking advantage of his fight against Tammany to get rid of that great political organization. It does not look so much like they look on Hearst as a menace. However, they are playing politics now. Anything to beat Democrats, or split Democrats.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Defeated candidates in local contests are always ready with arguments to show that the results will have no bearing on the national campaign.

—On his return from his trip around the world William Jennings Bryan will be occupied for some time in removing the favorable impression which Mr. Cleveland has made in Nebraska—Chicago Inter Ocean.

—Isn't it enough to make the eagle scream and tear out his tail feathers to note that the Russian liberals demanded the English form of cabinet as more Democratic than the American—Kansas City Star.

—River improvement money has always been doled out to the Cape Fear by a niggardly hand, but now that Fort Caswell is to be made one of the permanent and sound defenses, we may expect better things. The work on the Cape Fear has always been done in patches. We may soon expect a complete and thorough job—Charlotte Chronicle.

—Secretary Taft's advice to the voters of his State has been more liberal than he, apparently, meant it to be. He told his fellow-citizens that, if he were voting in Ohio this year, he would vote against the local Republican ticket in Cincinnati, while declaring that he would vote for the Republican State ticket. The voters of Ohio have bettered these instructions—New York Times.

—Hoke Smith was a part of the Cleveland administration; he endorsed the sales of bonds; he advocated the gold standard; he shared the unpopularities and that, regarding which Mr. Watson held up to the abomination of abominations; and now these two eminent Georgians are bedfellows in politics. A good many things have been loose in Georgia, but nothing like this. Georgia would be fortunate if she had a Tombs, or Ben Hill, or Stephens to express her opinion of it—Washington Post.

—The municipality of Freiburg, Germany, is the grandchild of the public ownership idea. For it owns and runs about everything in town, from the usual public utilities to the pawnshop, insurance business, cemetery, theaters, restaurants, and the daily paper. The best part of this unique plan is that every department turns over a profit yearly to the city treasury. Only the schools and the theater are non-supporting—both educational institutions. You can hear the opera for 9 cents and get a supper afterwards for 6 cents. The people are happy, and can you blame them? Wish New York was a Freiburg. The words "graft" and "politician" are unknown—Leslie's Weekly.

TWINKLINGS.

"Don't the Highlifers lie beyond their income?" "Dear me—why, they live beyond the income they wish they had."

—Life—"I've half a mind to ask you to be my wife. She—Sorry, but I really couldn't marry a man with only half a mind—Chicago News."

—"When we were engaged," said the wife reproachfully, "you used to like to have me caress you." "Well," responded the callous husband, "very careless didn't I? I was a silk dress of a new bonnet then."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—"A black dog? Yes, sir," said the latter; "now this style of derby just suits a black man." "Indeed?" replied Mr. Rust. "How much is it?" "Four dollars." "Huh! That price would not suit a man as short as I am." "Philadelphia Press."

—"Bull—I admit I'm always afraid to go into a china store. I'm in constant fear of breaking something. Joke—Yes; now I went into one the other day and broke something worth ten dollars. Bull's—My what was it? Joke—A ten-dollar note, buying a wedding present—Philadelphia Press."

—"What is this man charged with?" asked the police justice. "Stealing a dog," your honor," said the officer. "Well, sir, what have you got to say for yourself?" "Your honor," answered the prisoner, drawing a grimy coat sleeve across his nose. "If you'll make it unbecomingly fit, please, I'll be a thief, but I've got feelings!"—Chicago Tribune.

MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG AND SICK WOMEN WELL.

Forty years ago, Dr. Pierce searched Nature's laboratory for a remedy which should stimulate the system, and which, too, economically prescribed and advised for woman's peculiar ailments.

Nature abounds with most efficient remedies, and in Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Blue Cohosh root, Bladder root and Golden Seal root, Dr. Pierce found medicinal properties, which when extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure glycerine, have proven most potent in making weak women strong and sick women well. It contains no alcohol; is not a "patent medicine," nor a secret one either.

"I was suffering with nervous headache, pain in the back and distress, so that I could not raise my head," writes Mrs. Mary M. Thomas, of 321 Winthrop Street, Buffalo, N. Y. "After taking the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's 'Prescription,' however, I was restored to health and strength, and shall take a few doses when I do not feel so well."

One of the principal uses of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the preparation of prospective mothers for the time of trial and danger that comes when a child is born. The "Prescription" is strengthening and invigorating and lessens pain and danger. It insures the perfect well-being and the perfect health of both mother and child. Every woman should know these things before she really needs them. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, that every woman ought to know, is now being given away. A copy will be sent to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, or, in closed mailing for 21 cents.

THE COTTON MARKETS.

New York, Nov. 9.—The cotton market was not nearly as active as yesterday, sales for the day being estimated at 750,000 bales, but trading was quite general and prices showed great firmness. All of yesterday's net loss was recovered and the market closed very steady within a point or two of the best at a net advance of 25 to 28 points. The opening was very firm at a net advance of 10 to 14 points on surprisingly bullish Liverpool cables. On the New York break of yesterday Liverpool should have come at least 7 to 8 points lower, instead of which prices at the hour of the local opening were 1 to 2 points

net higher, and while spot cotton was four points lower the sales of 12,000 bales at the decline did not indicate any more bearish sentiment on the part of consumers. There was some realizing here at the opening, but after a little hesitation the market firmed up and the early afternoon trading was again heavy and prices sagged

a little but rallied in the last few minutes on predictions for freezing weath-

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

—Mr. A. B. Godwin, 47 years old, died at Dunn Tuesday night. He owned the Dunn Hotel and was a prominent Catholic.

—The Crowell Furniture Company has been organized at Lexington, Va. Dr. E. J. Buchanan, president. The line of furniture made will be bed room suits.

—Two applications for special terms of the Superior Court for civil causes await the return of Governor Glenn from Tennessee Saturday. They are from Sampson and Columbus counties.

—The Nobby Hosiery Mill Company, the new hosiery mill recently organized at Lexington, has applied for a charter. The factory will be two stories, a brick structure 50x50 feet in dimensions.

—T. W. Dewey, the defaulting cashier of the Merchants' and Farmers Bank, Newbern, who entered the penitentiary at Raleigh on Tuesday for his six years' term, took up the routine of his service on Wednesday. He will be given odd jobs about the penitentiary until he becomes accustomed to manual labor.

—Charters have been issued for the Beaufort High School Company, of Duplin county, $5,000 capital subscribed by H. S. Thomas and others. Another charter is to the Crowell Furniture Company, of Lexington, capital $50,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by J. W. Crowell, J. T. Hedrick and others.

—Mr. J. S. Smith, the town marshal of Maxton, was seriously injured on Wednesday while walking across the platform at the Atlantic Coast Line depot, by falling through a hole in the platform, caused by one end of an un-nailed plank slipping off the sill, the other end striking him a severe blow in the head. His injuries are a fracture of the skull and of the left thigh bone.

—Governor Glenn issues a warrant for the execution of Preston Daniels, colored, who on an excursion train near Farmville, last June shot and killed William Ebron. He was convicted of murder in the first degree and appealed to the Supreme Court, which, a few months ago, found no error. The Governor directs Daniels' execution to take place at Williamston, December 2nd.

—Raleigh correspondence: Sheriff J. Jackson, of Washington county, brought a 14-year-old negro girl to the penitentiary to serve six months for putting round-concrete in the food of the colored family for whom she was cooking. Another negro woman who had become angry at the family induced the girl to attempt the poisoning and procured the round-concrete for her. Norsa Heister, colored, was another negro cook brought here last night to serve one year for a similar offense in Alamance county. She put the poison in the coffee prepared for the family of Miss Boswell, in Alamance county. A skin on the surface of the coffee aroused the suspicion of Miss Boswell and no one drank it.

—Charlotte Observer: Mr. B. T. Price, a member of the board of county commissioners and one of the best known farmers of the county has an acre of land in cotton, which is just very proud. At the beginning of the year he worked the plot very carefully, fertilized it well and has given it the very closest attention since. He has already gathered 2,700 pounds of the best grade of seed cotton and there is yet about 300 pounds which remains to be picked. This amount will give two bales of 500 pounds flat, which at the present market price will total $110 by no means an insignificant sum, when all things are considered. "A well known citizen of the city when he heard these facts more remarked, 'Land like that, at almost any price, when the returns are considered, would be a good investment.'"

—On the court house green in Asheville on Wednesday, three monuments of gray granite and white marble were unveiled to the memory of the Sixtieth North Carolina Regiment; to General Thomas L. Clingman and to Colonel W. B. Creamer. The monuments were unveiled in the presence of a throng of people gathered for the occasion, in the presence of the Governor of North Carolina, and in the presence of three old gray-haired, grizzled men to whom honor was due. As the bells were drawn from the shafts of stone the old soldiers stood with uncovered heads while the tears streamed down their faces. The unveiling exercises were simple and impressive. The bells cast to the ground, the three monuments stood forth the handiwork of man; beautiful in design and an emblem of love and affection to the memory of those that are gone. Governor Glenn delivered a splendid speech on the occasion.

GEORGIA WHITE-CAPPERS.

Two Men in Court for Licking an Informer.

By Wire to The Morning Star.
Valdosta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Clyde Jordan and Peter Powell, well known white men from near Pelham, were tried before United States Commissioner Powell today on a charge of white-capping a witness who was to appear in the Federal Court here, against several illicit distillers in that section. The victim was a man named W. P. Crosby, who claims that these two men and three others met him on the roadside last Saturday, all of them masked, and gave him a flogging and told him that they would put an end to him if he did not leave the country at once. He says they changed him, with furnishing evidence in "moonshine" cases. The bonds of Jordan and Powell were fixed at $500 each. Deputy United States Marshal Godwin will try to bring the others to face the courts.

OLD AGE BROUGHT NO INFIRMITIES

To "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, after eighty years of life had rolled over his head, declared that he was eighty years young. "So may every man and woman in Wilmington," said Druggist Robert R. Bellamy, "if they will take proper care of themselves, keep built up and their bodily tissues from wasting."

We wish we could persuade every person in this vicinity who feels old, whether they are so in years or not, to take Vinol. It is by far the greatest tissue builder and invigorator we know of for old people. Vinol is not a patent medicine, it simply contains the body-building, strength-giving properties of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, and we guarantee that it will repair worn tissues, check the natural decline and replace weakness with strength.

There are hundreds of old people in this vicinity who need just such a strength-maker and tissue-builder as Vinol. Their blood is thin, sluggish, which have a bad after effect and make the body-building, strength-giving properties of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, and we guarantee that it will repair worn tissues, check the natural decline and replace weakness with strength.

Robert R. Bellamy, Druggist.

A DANGEROUS MISTAKE

Wilmington Mothers Should Not Neglect Kidney Weakness in Children.

Most children have weak kidneys. The earliest warning is bedwetting. Later comes backache, headache, languor.
To blame the child for its own distress.
To blame the child for its own distress.
To blame the child for its own distress.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Wilmington parents recommend them.

F. T. Ebert, formerly of 515 Sixth street, mattress maker, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family. My little girl complained of severe pains in the small of her back, and the kidney secretions were dark and full of brickdust sediment. We were very much worried about her and when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills I went up to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box and gave them to her. Since using them she has improved wonderfully and is a different child. Her kidney secretions cleared up, she does not complain of backache, and in fact Doan's Kidney Pills gave her new life. We are very much pleased with them and you can use my name and welcome."

UNIFORM QUARANTINE
FOREIGN IMMIGRATION

Southern Conference at Chattanooga Discussing Two Important Questions—Gov. Glenn Fine Talk.

By Cable to The Morning Star. Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 9.—At least 200 delegates representing fourteen Southern States faced Governor John H. Cox, today when he called to order the Southern Conference on Quarantine and Immigration.

Governor Cox explained the object of the gathering to be to prevent the coming to the South of the pauper and criminal classes from Europe which now are flocking to the west and northwest. Also to provide for uniform quarantine legislation by the Southern States, which should have the approval of the National Congress, and thus have the force of constitutional law, so that a citizen going to any part of the South in times of epidemic should know exactly what conditions he would meet.

Senator J. B. Frazier, of Tennessee, advocated Federal control of maritime quarantine, suggesting that if infection from sources could be kept from our shores, the more difficult question of inter-State quarantine would be simplified and possibly eliminated the problem.

Governor Vandaman, of Mississippi, who made the first response to the address of welcome, was received with prolonged applause. He stated his idea to be that the absolute control of all seaports should be vested in the Federal government. "But I am unwilling," said the Governor, "to surrender to the Federal government in times of epidemic, or any other time, the control of the affairs of Mississippi. I believe in the good old Democratic doctrine that the powers of government have their source in the consent of the governed. The tendency of the times is toward the concentration of authority at Washington. The respect for the state and independence and power of private citizenship is retrograding. I want to warn this convention against taking any steps which will trample upon the autonomy of our States. I believe in the doctrine of State's rights."

Governor R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, was introduced to make the first formal address of the conference. His subject was the "South, Its Past, Present and Future." Governor Glenn made a rapid sketch of the growth of the United States, covering the last three hundred years. He illustrated by quoting many statistics. "To-day," he said, "the United States is the richest nation on earth, respected and honored by all the world. And the President of the United States is the best known and the most respected ruler on earth." The response to the address of welcome was an outburst of applause which lasted fully two minutes. The speaker drew attention to the growth and wealth of the South, emphasizing its claims by figures covering many lines of industry. He reviewed the desolation wrought by the Civil War and the reconstruction period in the South and noted her growth to the present eve of prosperity.

The report of the committee on permanent organization which was presented at the opening of the afternoon session was adopted. It suggested Governor John H. Cox as president and permanent chairman of the convention and vice-chairman from each State. The permanent secretary named was Hon. Thomas K. Bruner, of North Carolina.

Governor Blanchard, of Louisiana, declared himself in doubt which was the greater evil, yellow fever or the shot gun quarantine, from which Louisiana has suffered. Uniform legislation by all Southern States, he declared, is an impossibility. He ridiculed the differing methods of quarantine adopted by the Southern States during the present year. He demanded at least equal protection for human beings that is accorded freight under the Interstate Commerce laws of the Federal government. The traveler should be under the same protection that the government throws around a bale of cotton in transit. If the Federal government has the right to protect the property by its Interstate Commerce laws, it has the power to regulate interstate quarantine laws, and the individual State must take a back seat. It is merely a question of where the authority lies, and if the authority of the general government is recognized in the protection of property, it must be recognized in the protection of man himself.

Governor Blanchard's advocacy of the Federal government's taking over not only maritime quarantine but also the control of interstate quarantine was received by repeated applause, showing at least a large part of the convention as favoring this course.

Governor Blanchard raised the second demonstration of the day at the mention of the name of President Roosevelt by declaring that the President was "half Southerner and a firm friend of the South."

Concluding his address of more than an hour, Governor Blanchard said: "I would have the United States Congress command the Marine Hospital Service, foreign, maritime and inter-State Commerce. Some believe that the battle of New Orleans was fought in 1815. The real battle of New Orleans was fought in 1905, and it vanquished the greater foe, one which we dreaded more. The commanding officers were Marine Hospital service men under the direction of Walter Wyman. His able lieutenant who directed that fight was that able gentleman, Dr. J. H. White."

Governor Blanchard's address was received with the closest attention and frequent and hearty applause.

The appointment of committee on immigration and quarantine, two members from each State on each committee was authorized. The recess to the evening session at 8:30 o'clock was taken at 7 o'clock.

An informal reception was tendered to visiting delegates by the Chattanooga Manufacturers' Association during the recess.

HEARST CONTEST
STIRS NEW YORK

Boxes Containing 600,000 Ballots In Possession of Courts for Disposal

SOME BOXES IN THE RIVER

Thorough Investigation to Be Had—Judge Parker Will Be One of McClellan's Counsel—Invites Volunteers for Hearst.

By Wire to The Morning Star. New York, Nov. 9.—The contest of the majority election, inaugurated by William Randolph Hearst, the Municipal Ownership candidate, developed interesting and spectacular features today.

For twelve hours the boxes containing nearly 600,000 ballots cast in last Tuesday's election choked the streets in the vicinity of the headquarters of the board of elections in Sixth avenue between Forty-first and Forty-second streets. The ballot boxes had been gathered during the night by the police and conveyed in patrol wagons to the election board's headquarters. There the officials refused to receive the ballot boxes, and the police acted under a court order signed by Justice Gaynor, compelling the police authorities to turn the ballots over to the election board, had nothing to do but remain outside and await the pleasure of the election officials.

Apprised of the situation, the attorneys for Mr. Hearst appeared before Justice Dickson, of the State Supreme Court, and secured from him an order compelling John R. Voorhis, president of the board of elections, to accept the boxes. The order was served promptly and the ballots then were received by the election board. Under strong guards the patrol wagons containing the boxes were driven to various warehouses in this city and Brooklyn, where the ballots were stored subject to the orders of the election board.

State Attorney General Julius Mayer had a long and important conference this afternoon with District Attorney Jerome after which it was announced that the attorney general's office would remain open until midnight tonight. Superintendent of Elections Morgan appeared before Messrs. Mayer and Jerome with six of his deputies and placed evidence before the prosecuting officials.

Another feature of the contest to date was the announcement by the Citizens' Union that it would join the forces investigating the charges of fraud and wrong doing at Tuesday's election, its prime object being to secure a new election law in the State of New York.

Attorney General Mayer said to-night: "District Attorney Jerome has placed at my disposal the machinery of his office and will co-operate with me in every way, as I will co-operate with him in the prosecution of offenses against the elective franchise. Assistant District Attorneys Perkins and Sanford are to devote themselves to work in conjunction with Deputy Attorney General Mason and assistants."

The attorney general received a large bundle of subpoenas from the district attorney and immediately put several election deputies at work serving them.

Charges that several ballot boxes had been stolen before the returns were reported and that others were found unsealed were made during the day. The investigation of the election returns was made most thorough ever made in New York city.

Mayor McClellan today engaged counsel, among them being Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for President last year, to represent him during the majority contest.

Mr. Hearst's order was obtained from Justice Gaynor after the circulation of a story that a printing firm had been turning out large numbers of facsimiles of the official ballot and that these were to be marked for McClellan, and placed in the ballot boxes in place of Hearst ballots to be removed. The rumor was a rumor reached the Hearst headquarters. It was decided that the ballot ought not to remain longer in the station houses and the application to Justice Gaynor was made as quickly as the papers could be drawn up.

It was reported that many of the ballot boxes in Brooklyn were not properly sealed and that their covers were merely pasted down making it possible for any persons to open the box and close it again without detection. The law requires that the boxes be closed with sealing wax.

A representative of the Municipal Ownership League watching the arrival of the wagons reported to President Voorhis that two boxes protruded from the back of a wagon with their covers unsealed. He said these boxes had come from the Eighteenth Assembly district, of which Charles F. Murphy is the leader. He asked that the boxes be sealed, but Mr. Voorhis replied that he did not have the power to do this.

Among the attorneys aiding Hearst is William M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for Mayor in Tuesday's election. Mr. Ivins volunteered his services to Mr. Hearst and the offer was accepted. Another attorney acting for Hearst is Judge John F. Dillon, who was at one time judge of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Aided by an array of legal talent, in which are lawyers of great prominence, not only as masters of their profession, but as leaders more than one movement for good government in this city, William R. Hearst has begun his fight in the courts for the majority, which he believes he won in Tuesday's election, and his first step created a situation apparently without precedent. Last night he obtained an order from Justice Gaynor of the Supreme Court, directing the police to turn over all ballot boxes to the board of elections at once. The police obeyed the order as far as they could, but when they proceeded, in the afternoon hours, to the election board's office, there was no one there to take custody of the boxes, and the police were compelled to remain in the street for hours guarding the repositories of the people's votes. Later, John K. Voorhis, president of the board, declined to accept responsibility in the matter pending advice from the corporation counsel. Mr. Voorhis is a Democrat, and when his decision was made known, the Hearst machine turned to Charles W. Page, a Republican member of the board, but he also declined to act and then the police were left in the strange position of trying to carry out the court's orders, but unable to do so. The street in the vicinity of the election board offices presented a strange sight as hundreds of policemen stood on guard around the patrol wagons and other vehicles, in which the boxes had been conveyed from the various precinct station houses.

Ballot Boxes Destroyed.

Attorney-General Mayer stated to-night that he had received information from the returning officers of the North river of certain ballot boxes used in the election Tuesday last. He said the matter was under investigation.

Attorney-General Mayer left his office at midnight, saying, the expected developments had not taken place, and that nothing could be gained by his remaining down so far longer. Mr. Mayer refused to discuss the reported finding of the ballot boxes in the river, further than to say that such reports had come to him. It being said, the boxes were picked up by a tug.

A ballot box alleged to have been stolen and discovered by accident to-night was taken to District Attorney Jerome's office and closely examined.

Sailors on War Ships at Cronstadt. Mutinied and Ran Amuck

BLOODY FIGHT WITH TROOPS

Machine Guns Used and Fighting Lasted All Night—Nineteen Thousand Troops Suppress Insurrection—Czar Surrenders.

By Cable to The Morning Star. St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—4:30 P. M.—Intense excitement prevails here owing to the alarming news from Cronstadt. According to the report a mutiny of the sailors occurred during the night and was followed by a regular battle with the troops during which machine guns were used. The workmen sided with the sailors and hundreds were killed or wounded. Later the torch was used and the town is now in flames. It is reported that the glare of the fire can be seen from the windows of the Emperor's palace at Peterhof. The inhabitants of Cronstadt are in a panic. The boats to St. Petersburg have stopped running and telephone and telegraph communications have been severed.

Later reports from Cronstadt only magnify the horror of the situation. The mutiny was complete, according to the latest reports, not only the sailors but the garrison of some of the forts joining in the insurrection. The few soldiers and sailors who remained under the banner of revolt, barricaded the town, and the troops were obliged to fight with high with baggage and household goods. At this hour, the city is fully or reinforcements from St. Petersburg, and others are arriving. Order has been restored, and there was no renewal of the trouble during the evening. The fires are still glowing in the market and another group of buildings, the stores and houses are boarded up, and troops are patrolling the streets.

Searchlights from warships and torpedo boats in the harbor are flashing across the waters in order to aid launches in their search for individual mutineers who are trying to escape to the mainland by boat. Though a majority of the mutineers have surrendered, several hundred are still holding out in the eastern section of the town. They have thrown up barricades, but are surrounded, and machine guns are posted at all the streets leading to the stronghold. It is expected that the remainder of the mutineers will submit to-morrow.

Two Hundred Killed.—During the rioting Wednesday night, machine guns were employed against the chief group of mutineers who were joined by a battalion of artillerymen from the fortress, and which raised the total number of mutineers to 2,000. It is difficult to ascertain the number of casualties, but officers place the figures at 200. Many wounded persons are in hospitals. The sailors say the chief group of mutineers were food and clothing, and an insufficient amount of liberty from barracks.

Roughs joined in the pillage, but the workmen did not participate in it. Many of the workmen and the civilian population have either fled or are trying to flee the city, and the docks are piled high with baggage and household goods. At this hour, the city is fully or reinforcements from St. Petersburg, and others are arriving. Order has been restored, and there was no renewal of the trouble during the evening. The fires are still glowing in the market and another group of buildings, the stores and houses are boarded up, and troops are patrolling the streets.

They have thrown up barricades, but are surrounded, and machine guns are posted at all the streets leading to the stronghold. It is expected that the remainder of the mutineers will submit to-morrow.

Fighting All Night.—Heavens reflected the glare of the smoldering fires as the Associated Press' correspondent approached Cronstadt at 8 this evening. Upon landing, however, hurried inquiry revealed the fact that the troops and the loyal sailors apparently had the upper hand. Fighting had ceased in the streets and the town was quiet but fears were expressed that there might be further trouble later. Tonight patrols are engaged in hunting down and capturing the mutineers. The outbreak started yesterday afternoon when the sailors of the "Alexander Nevsky" mutinied. According to some reports the sailors and strikers were finally surrounded but have not yet surrendered. Both sides have been losing heavily. The troops lost eight officers killed or wounded.

Protestant Episcopal Church in America, was elected by the diocesan council in special session, Bishop Coadjuutor of the diocese of Southern Virginia. The election occurred on the fourth ballot. Bishop-elect Lloyd was a year or more ago elected Bishop of Mississippi but declined. Later he was elected Bishop of Kentucky and also declined that election, preferring at both times to remain in missionary work.

By Cable to The Morning Star. London, Nov. 9.—A prophet prophesied war: today I prophesy peace. This was the text on which Premier Balfour based his speech concerning the relations of Great Britain with foreign countries at the Lord-Mayor's banquet, tonight. The speaker, Whitehall Road, the American Ambassador, vied at each other in pleasant words for the credit of their respective countries as leaders among the advocates of the arbitration of quarrels throughout the civilized world. In fact the whole tenor of the speeches was optimistic and the relations between all the great powers were concerned. The premier's reference to Russia was particularly happy. He said:

"Our friends in Russia are absorbing public interest by the great movement they are making in the direction of peace. We view this movement with interest. There is not a citizen in Great Britain who does not wish them every success. We hope that the movement will bring happiness to countless millions, untroubled by a repetition of the painful and horrible events which made the initial progress so lamentable."

Mr. Balfour made a considerable portion of his speech to the question of the unemployed, expressing his sympathy and his desire to in every way possible help those out of work and his best to develop a scheme of arbitration.

"I am sanguine on this subject," said the premier. "I think in the future we shall not see war unless induced we can conceive of a nation or a ruler arising who will be unable to carry out a scheme of national agrandement except through tramping on the rights of his neighbors. However, I see no prospect of such a calamity in Europe."

NEW YORK LIFE WILL FIGHT.

Denies Right of State to Prohibit Business.

By Wire to The Morning Star. St. Louis, Nov. 9.—The New York Life Insurance Company, through its attorneys, F. N. Judson and former Attorney General Crow, late this afternoon applied to United States Circuit Judge Adams for an injunction to restrain State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver from enforcing his order prohibiting the company from carrying on further business in Missouri. The application was favorably passed upon by Judge Adams, who issued a restraining order directing William D. Vandiver, State Superintendent of Insurance, to appear before the Federal Court in Jefferson City, Nov. 20, to show cause why he should not be prevented from enforcing his order excluding the New York Life Insurance Company from doing business in Missouri and ordering that pending the hearing November 20, the superintendent's order be not enforced. The language of Judge Adams order is that "No attempt in any manner be made to enforce the order."

Further Liberty Granted.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—3:50 P. M.—Both Count Witte and the Emperor have made another surrender. General Trepoft has been released from the powerful position which he occupied, that of governor general of St. Petersburg and assistant Minister of the Interior, and Russia's premier has agreed to immediate universal suffrage.

By Wire to The Morning Star. Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—A special to the Virginian-Pilot says Helen Hope, who last night was married to Randolph C. Johnson at Perquimans, N. C., was found dead in her bridal chamber this morning with a pistol in her hand and bullet wound through her head. Johnson was lying across the bed dead with three bullets in his head and body. Johnson had loved Miss Hope since her early childhood. He was 25 years old and she 17. After their wedding Wednesday night, a large supper and dance followed and about midnight the couple drove to the home which the groom had prepared. Their non-appearance about the house in the morning caused inquiry and when the door of the bridal chamber was broken in, the woman was found lying in a pool of blood before her dresser with a pistol in her hand and her brains oozing from the wound in her head. Johnson's wounds were in the left breast, the left temple and a grazing wound on the cheek. Either of the first two would have proved fatal. No motive for the tragedy can be learned.

Pattison's plurality for Governor in Ohio, is 11,705, according to the official returns reported to the county seats and telegraphed to the Columbus Dispatch yesterday, all counties being included. Both sides are claiming the Legislature.

BLOODY FIGHT WITH TROOPS

Machine Guns Used and Fighting Lasted All Night—Nineteen Thousand Troops Suppress Insurrection—Czar Surrenders.

By Cable to The Morning Star. St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—4:30 P. M.—Intense excitement prevails here owing to the alarming news from Cronstadt. According to the report a mutiny of the sailors occurred during the night and was followed by a regular battle with the troops during which machine guns were used. The workmen sided with the sailors and hundreds were killed or wounded. Later the torch was used and the town is now in flames. It is reported that the glare of the fire can be seen from the windows of the Emperor's palace at Peterhof. The inhabitants of Cronstadt are in a panic. The boats to St. Petersburg have stopped running and telephone and telegraph communications have been severed.

Later reports from Cronstadt only magnify the horror of the situation. The mutiny was complete, according to the latest reports, not only the sailors but the garrison of some of the forts joining in the insurrection. The few soldiers and sailors who remained under the banner of revolt, barricaded the town, and the troops were obliged to fight with high with baggage and household goods. At this hour, the city is fully or reinforcements from St. Petersburg, and others are arriving. Order has been restored, and there was no renewal of the trouble during the evening. The fires are still glowing in the market and another group of buildings, the stores and houses are boarded up, and troops are patrolling the streets.

Searchlights from warships and torpedo boats in the harbor are flashing across the waters in order to aid launches in their search for individual mutineers who are trying to escape to the mainland by boat. Though a majority of the mutineers have surrendered, several hundred are still holding out in the eastern section of the town. They have thrown up barricades, but are surrounded, and machine guns are posted at all the streets leading to the stronghold. It is expected that the remainder of the mutineers will submit to-morrow.

Two Hundred Killed.—During the rioting Wednesday night, machine guns were employed against the chief group of mutineers who were joined by a battalion of artillerymen from the fortress, and which raised the total number of mutineers to 2,000. It is difficult to ascertain the number of casualties, but officers place the figures at 200. Many wounded persons are in hospitals. The sailors say the chief group of mutineers were food and clothing, and an insufficient amount of liberty from barracks.

Roughs joined in the pillage, but the workmen did not participate in it. Many of the workmen and the civilian population have either fled or are trying to flee the city, and the docks are piled high with baggage and household goods. Fighting All Night.—Heavens reflected the glare of the smoldering fires as the Associated Press' correspondent approached Cronstadt at 8 this evening. Upon landing, however, hurried inquiry revealed the fact that the troops and the loyal sailors apparently had the upper hand. Fighting had ceased in the streets and the town was quiet but fears were expressed that there might be further trouble later. Tonight patrols are engaged in hunting down and capturing the mutineers. The outbreak started yesterday afternoon when the sailors of the "Alexander Nevsky" mutinied. According to some reports the sailors and strikers were finally surrounded but have not yet surrendered. Both sides have been losing heavily. The troops lost eight officers killed or wounded.

Protestant Episcopal Church in America, was elected by the diocesan council in special session, Bishop Coadjuutor of the diocese of Southern Virginia. The election occurred on the fourth ballot. Bishop-elect Lloyd was a year or more ago elected Bishop of Mississippi but declined. Later he was elected Bishop of Kentucky and also declined that election, preferring at both times to remain in missionary work.

By Cable to The Morning Star. London, Nov. 9.—A prophet prophesied war: today I prophesy peace. This was the text on which Premier Balfour based his speech concerning the relations of Great Britain with foreign countries at the Lord-Mayor's banquet, tonight. The speaker, Whitehall Road, the American Ambassador, vied at each other in pleasant words for the credit of their respective countries as leaders among the advocates of the arbitration of quarrels throughout the civilized world. In fact the whole tenor of the speeches was optimistic and the relations between all the great powers were concerned. The premier's reference to Russia was particularly happy. He said:

"Our friends in Russia are absorbing public interest by the great movement they are making in the direction of peace. We view this movement with interest. There is not a citizen in Great Britain who does not wish them every success. We hope that the movement will bring happiness to countless millions, untroubled by a repetition of the painful and horrible events which made the initial progress so lamentable."

Mr. Balfour made a considerable portion of his speech to the question of the unemployed, expressing his sympathy and his desire to in every way possible help those out of work and his best to develop a scheme of arbitration.

"I am sanguine on this subject," said the premier. "I think in the future we shall not see war unless induced we can conceive of a nation or a ruler arising who will be unable to carry out a scheme of national agrandement except through tramping on the rights of his neighbors. However, I see no prospect of such a calamity in Europe."

NEW YORK LIFE WILL FIGHT.

Denies Right of State to Prohibit Business.

By Wire to The Morning Star. St. Louis, Nov. 9.—The New York Life Insurance Company, through its attorneys, F. N. Judson and former Attorney General Crow, late this afternoon applied to United States Circuit Judge Adams for an injunction to restrain State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver from enforcing his order prohibiting the company from carrying on further business in Missouri. The application was favorably passed upon by Judge Adams, who issued a restraining order directing William D. Vandiver, State Superintendent of Insurance, to appear before the Federal Court in Jefferson City, Nov. 20, to show cause why he should not be prevented from enforcing his order excluding the New York Life Insurance Company from doing business in Missouri and ordering that pending the hearing November 20, the superintendent's order be not enforced. The language of Judge Adams order is that "No attempt in any manner be made to enforce the order."

Further Liberty Granted.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—3:50 P. M.—Both Count Witte and the Emperor have made another surrender. General Trepoft has been released from the powerful position which he occupied, that of governor general of St. Petersburg and assistant Minister of the Interior, and Russia's premier has agreed to immediate universal suffrage.

By Wire to The Morning Star. Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—A special to the Virginian-Pilot says Helen Hope, who last night was married to Randolph C. Johnson at Perquimans, N. C., was found dead in her bridal chamber this morning with a pistol in her hand and bullet wound through her head. Johnson was lying across the bed dead with three bullets in his head and body. Johnson had loved Miss Hope since her early childhood. He was 25 years old and she 17. After their wedding Wednesday night, a large supper and dance followed and about midnight the couple drove to the home which the groom had prepared. Their non-appearance about the house in the morning caused inquiry and when the door of the bridal chamber was broken in, the woman was found lying in a pool of blood before her dresser with a pistol in her hand and her brains oozing from the wound in her head. Johnson's wounds were in the left breast, the left temple and a grazing wound on the cheek. Either of the first two would have proved fatal. No motive for the tragedy can be learned.

Pattison's plurality for Governor in Ohio, is 11,705, according to the official returns reported to the county seats and telegraphed to the Columbus Dispatch yesterday, all counties being included. Both sides are claiming the Legislature.

Democrats finally late last night decided definitely not to hold office in the present ministry. They take the high position that the ministry is only temporary, lasting until the national assembly or constituent assembly meets and they refuse to accept office until it is demonstrated that they have the support of a majority.

The Russo and other radical papers which have been campaigning against Trepoft hall his removal with delight as being the first victory for the free Russian press. General Trepoft claims to have been greatly misunderstood and that history must eventually acquit him of being in any way the instigator of the shedding of blood and all the other horrors which Russia experienced during the last fortnight.

It should think it unnecessary for me to deny that the government sought to inflame the passions of the people against each other," he said. "The manifesto seemed to rouse the elemental passions of the people. Different classes of the population did what they could to stifle and suppress the disturbances but in many places the authorities were powerless to withstand the shock. The accusations against the police made by enemies of the government who have demanded nothing short of miracles, are largely inventions."
